Section 2

Application of other provisions

The protection of trade marks, commercial designations and indications of geographical origin in accordance with this Act shall not exclude the application of other provisions on the protection of such symbols.

Signs eligible for protection as trade marks

(1) All signs, particularly words including personal names, designs, letters, numerals, sound marks, three-dimensional designs, the shape of goods or of their packaging, as well as other wrapping, including colours and colour combinations, may be protected as trade marks if they are capable of distinguishing the goods or services of one enterprise from those of other enterprises.

(2) Signs consisting exclusively of a shape

1. which results from the nature of the goods themselves,
2. which is necessary to obtain a technical result, or
3. which gives substantial value to the goods

shall not be amenable to protection as a trade mark.

Section 4 Accrual of trade mark protection

The following shall give rise to trade mark protection

2. the use of a sign in the course of trade insofar as the sign has acquired public recognition as a trade mark within affected trade circles, or
3. a trade mark constituting a well-known mark within the meaning of Article 6bis of the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property (Paris Convention).

Section 5 Commercial designations

(4) If rights in accordance with subs. 2 and 3 have the same date as their seniority, the rights shall have equal ranking, and shall not give rise to any rights against one another.

Chapter 2 Prerequisites for the protection of trade marks by means of registration

Section 7 Proprietorship

Proprietors of trade marks that have been filed or registered may be the following:

1. natural persons,

2. legal persons, or
3. partnerships insofar as they are equipped with the capacity to acquire rights and enter into liabilities.

8. which contain coats of arms, flags or other symbols, seals or designations of international intergovernmental organisations which are excluded from registration as a trade mark in accordance with a notice made by the Federal Ministry of Justice in the Federal Law Gazette,
9. the use of which can evidently be prohibited in the public interest in accordance with other provisions, or
10. which have been applied for in bad faith.

(3) Subs. 2 Nos. 1, 2 and 3 shall not apply if, prior to the point in time of the decision on registration, the trade mark has become established in the trade circles involved as a result of its use for the goods or services for which the application was filed.

(4) Subs. 2 Nos. 6, 7 and 8 shall also be applied if the trade mark contains the imitation of a sign listed there. Subs. 2 Nos. 6, 7 and 8 shall not be applied if the applicant is empowered to include in the trade mark one of the signs listed therein, even if it can be confused with one of the other signs listed therein. Subs. 2 No. 7 shall furthermore not be applied if the goods or services for which the trade mark application was filed are neither identical with nor similar to those for which the certification mark or hallmark has been introduced. Subs. 2 No. 8 shall further not be applied if the trade mark applied for is not suitable to create among the public the incorrect impression of a connection with the international intergovernmental organisation.

Section 9 Trade marks that have been filed or registered as relative obstacles to protection

(1) The registration of a trade mark may be cancelled

1. if it is identical to a trade mark applied for or registered which has older seniority and the goods or services for which it was registered are identical with the goods or services for which the trade mark with older seniority was filed or registered,
2. if the likelihood of confusion exists, including the likelihood of association between the trade marks, for the public because of its identity with or similarity to a trade mark applied for or registered with older seniority and owing to the identity or similarity of the goods or services covered by both trade marks, or
3. if it is identical with or similar to a trade mark applied for or registered with older seniority and has been registered for goods or services which are not similar to those for which the trade mark with older seniority has been filed or registered, if the trade mark with older seniority is a trade mark which has a reputation in this country and the use of the registered trade mark would without due cause take unfair advantage of, or be detrimental to, the distinctive character or the repute of the trade mark which has a reputation.

(2) Applications for trade marks shall only constitute an ground for refusal within the meaning of subs. 1 if they are registered.

Section 10 Well-known marks

(2) Subs. 1 shall not apply if the applicant has been empowered to file an application by the proprietor of the well-known mark.

Section 11 Unauthorised filing of the proprietor's trade mark

The registration of a trade mark may be cancelled if the trade mark was registered without the consent of the trade mark proprietor for his/her agent or representative.

Section 12 Trade marks and commercial designations with older seniority acquired by virtue of use

The registration of a trade mark may be cancelled if another person has acquired rights to a trade mark prior to the date that is material for the seniority of the registered trade mark within the meaning of section 4 No. 2 or to a commercial designation within the meaning of section 5 and these entitle him/her to prohibit the use of the registered trade mark in the entire territory of the Federal Republic of Germany.

Section 13 Other earlier rights

(1) The registration of a trade mark may be cancelled if another person has acquired another right not listed in sections 9 to 12 prior to the date material to the seniority of the registered trade mark, and this entitles him/her to prohibit the use of the registered trade mark in the entire territory of the Federal Republic of Germany.

(2) The other rights within the meaning of subs. 1 shall include in particular:

1. rights to names,
2. the right of personal portrayal,

1. using a sign which is identical to the trade mark for goods or services which are identical to those for which it enjoys protection,
  2. using a sign if the likelihood of confusion exists for the public because of the identity or similarity of the sign to the trade mark and the identity or similarity of the goods or services covered by the trade mark and the sign, including the likelihood of association with the trade mark, or
  3. using a sign identical with or similar to the trade mark for goods or services which are not similar to those for which the trade mark enjoys protection if the trade mark is a trade mark which has a reputation in this country and the use of the sign without due cause takes unfair advantage of, or is detrimental to, the distinctive character or the repute of the trade mark which has a reputation.
- (3) If the prerequisites of subs. 2 are met, it shall in particular be prohibited
1. to affix the sign to goods or their wrappings or packaging,
  2. to offer goods under the sign, to put them on the market, or to stock them for the above purposes,
  3. to offer or provide services under the sign,

- if the danger exists that the wrappings or packaging are used to wrap or package, or that the means of identification are used to identify goods or services with regard to which third parties would be prohibited from using the sign in accordance with subs. 2 and 3.

(5) Anyone using a sign in contravention of subs. 2 to 4 may be required by the proprietor of the trade mark to refrain therefrom if there is a danger of recurrence. The right shall also exist if there is a risk of a contravention occurring for the first time.

(6) Anyone committing the act of infringement intentionally or negligently shall be liable to the proprietor of the trade mark to compensate for the damage incurred by the act of infringement. The profit which the infringer has made through the infringement of the right may also be taken into account when assessing the compensation. The compensation claim may also be calculated on the basis of the amount which the infringer should have paid as a suitable remuneration if he/she had obtained authorisation to use the trade mark.

(7) If the act of infringement is committed in a business operation by an employee or agent, the right to an injunction and, insofar as the employee or agent acted intentionally or negligently, the compensation claim, may also be asserted against the proprietor of the operation.

(2) Third parties shall be prohibited from using the commercial designation or a similar sign in the course of trade without authorisation in a manner liable to cause confusion with the protected designation.

(3) If the commercial designation is a commercial designation which has a reputation in this country, third parties shall be furthermore prohibited from using the commercial designation or a similar sign in the course of trade if there is no likelihood of confusion within the meaning of subs. 2, insofar as the use of the sign without due cause takes unfair advantage of, or is detrimental to, the distinctive character or the repute of the commercial designation.

(4) Anyone who uses a commercial designation or a similar sign in contravention of subs. 2 or subs. 3 may be required to refrain therefrom by the proprietor of the commercial designation if there is a danger of recurrence. The right shall also exist if a contravention is threatened.

(6) Section 14 subs. 7 shall be applied mutatis mutandis.

Section 16

Representation of a registered trade mark in works of reference

(1) If the representation of a registered trade mark in a dictionary, encyclopaedia or similar reference work gives the impression that the trade mark constitutes the generic name of the goods or services for which the trade mark is registered, the proprietor of the trade mark may require from the publisher of the work that the representation of the trade mark be accompanied by an indication that it is a registered trade mark.

(2) If the work has already been published, the right shall be restricted to the indication in accordance with subs. 1 being included in a new edition of the work.

(3) Subs. 1 and 2 shall be applied mutatis mutandis if the work of reference is sold in the shape of an electronic database or if access is provided to an electronic database containing a work of reference.

Section 17

Rights against agents or representatives

(1) If a trade mark has been filed or registered in contravention of section 11 for the agent or representative of the proprietor of the trade mark without his/her consent, the proprietor of the trade mark shall be entitled to demand from the agent or representative the transfer of the right given rise to by the application for or registration of the trade mark.

(2) If a trade mark has been registered in contravention of section 11 for an agent or representative of the proprietor of the trade mark, the proprietor may prohibit the use of the trade mark within the meaning of section 14 by the agent or representative if he/she has not consented to its use. If the agent or representative acts intentionally or negligently, he/she shall be obliged to compensate the proprietor of the trade mark for the damage incurred by the act of infringement. Section 14 subs. 7 shall be applied mutatis mutandis.

Section 18 Destruction and re-call rights

(1) The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation may claim against the infringer in cases falling under sections 14, 15 and 17 requiring the destruction of the goods owned or held by the infringer that are unlawfully identified. Sentence 1 shall apply mutatis mutandis to the supplies and equipment held by the infringer which have primarily served to unlawfully identify the goods.

(2) The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation may claim against the infringer in cases falling under sections 14, 15 and 17 requiring the re-call of unlawfully-identified goods or their permanent removal from sale.

(3) The rights in accordance with subs. 1 and 2 shall be ruled out if the claiming is disproportionate in individual cases. The legitimate interests of third parties shall also be taken into account when examining proportionality.

Section 19 Right to information

(1) The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation may demand from the infringer in cases falling under sections 14, 15 and 17 to be promptly informed of the origin and the sales channels of unlawfully-identified goods or services.

(2) In cases of manifest infringements of rights, or in cases in which the proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation has lodged an action against the infringer, the right shall also apply, regardless of subs. 1, vis-à-vis a person who on a commercial scale

1. had possession of right-infringing goods,
2. availed him/herself of right-infringing services,
3. provided services used for right-infringing activities, or
4. in accordance with the indications provided by a person listed in Nos. 1, 2 or No. 3 was involved in the production, manufacture or commercialisation of such goods or in the provision of such services, unless the person would have been entitled in accordance with sections 383 to 385 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Zivilprozessordnung) to refuse to testify in the trial against the infringer. In cases of the right in accordance with sentence 1 being asserted in court, the court may suspend the legal dispute pending against the infringer on request until completion of the legal dispute being pursued with regard to the right to information. The person obliged to provide information may demand from the injured party compensation for the expenditure required to provide the information.

(3) The party obliged to provide indications shall provide information regarding

1. the name and address of the manufacturers, suppliers and other previous proprietors of the goods or services, as well as of the commercial purchasers and points of sale for whom they were intended, and
2. the quantity of the goods manufactured, delivered, received or ordered, as well as the prices paid for the goods or services in question.

(4) The rights in accordance with subs. 1 and 2 shall be ruled out if claiming is disproportionate in the individual case.

(5) If the person obliged to provide the information provides incorrect or incomplete information either intentionally or with gross negligence, he/she shall be obliged to provide the proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation with compensation for the damage incurred thereby.

(6) Anyone who has provided truthful information without having been obliged to do so in accordance with subs. 1 or subs. 2 shall only be liable to the third party if he/she knew that he/she was not obliged to provide the information.

(7) In cases of a manifest infringement of rights, the obligation to provide the information may be ordered by means of an injunction in accordance with sections 935 to 945 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

(8) The information may only be used with the consent of the party obliged to provide the information in criminal proceedings or in proceedings in accordance with the Act on Regulatory Offences (Gesetz über Ordnungswidrigkeiten) because of an offence committed prior to the provision of the information against the party obliged to provide the information or against a relative designated in section 52 subs. 1 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Strafprozessordnung).

(9) If the information can only be provided using traffic data (section 3 No. 30 of the Telecommunications Act [Telekommunikationsgesetz]), a prior judicial order regarding the permissibility of the use of the traffic data shall be required for their provision which is to be applied for by the injured party. The Regional Court shall have exclusive jurisdiction for the issuance of this order in whose district the party obliged to provide the information has his/her place of residence, his/her seat of business or a branch office, regardless of the value at dispute. The decision shall be taken by the civil chamber. The provisions contained in the Act on the Procedure in Family Matters and in Matters of Non-contentious Jurisdiction (Gesetz über das Verfahren in Familiensachen und in den Angelegenheiten der freiwilligen Gerichtsbarkeit) shall apply to the proceedings mutatis mutandis. The costs of the judicial hearing shall be borne by the injured party. An appeal shall be admissible against the decision of the Regional Court. The appeal must be lodged within a two-week period. The provisions on the protection of personal data shall remain unaffected in other respects.

(10) Subs. 2 in conjunction with subs. 9 restricts the fundamental right of the privacy of telecommunications (Article 10 of the Basic Law [Grundgesetz]).

Section 19a

Rights of submission and inspection

(1) If there is sufficient probability of an infringement of rights in accordance with sections 14, 15 and 17, the proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation may require the putative infringer to submit a document or to tolerate the inspection of an object which is at his/her disposal if this is required to establish his/her rights. If there is sufficient probability of a infringement of rights having been committed on a commercial scale, the right shall also encompass the submission of banking, financial or trade documents. Insofar as the putative infringer claims that this is confidential information, the court shall take the necessary measures to provide the protection required in the individual case.

(2) The right in accordance with subs. 1 shall be ruled out if the claim is disproportionate in the individual case.

(3) The obligation to submit a document or to tolerate the inspection of an object may be ordered by means of an injunction in accordance with sections 935 to 945 of the Code of Civil Procedure. The court shall take the necessary measures to guarantee the protection of confidential information. This shall apply in particular in cases in which the injunction is issued without a prior hearing of the opponent.

(4) Section 811 of the Civil Code, as well as section 19 subs. 8, shall apply mutatis mutandis.

(5) If no infringement was committed or threatened, the putative infringer may demand from the party which requested the submission or inspection in accordance with subs. 1 compensation for the damage incurred by him/her as a result of the request.

Section 19b Securing compensation claims

(1) The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation may also require the infringer in the event of an infringement of rights committed on a commercial scale in cases falling under section 14 subs. 6, section 15 subs. 5, as well as section 17 subs. 2 sentence 2 to submit banking, financial or commercial documents or to tolerate suitable access to corresponding documents which are at the disposal of the infringer and which are required for the assertion of the compensation claim if the satisfaction of the compensation claim is questionable without such submission. Insofar as the infringer asserts that this is confidential information, the court shall take the necessary measures in order to guarantee the protection required in the individual case.

(2) The right in accordance with subs. 1 shall be ruled out if the claim is disproportionate in the individual case.

(3) The obligation to submit the documents designated in subs. 1 may be ordered by means of an injunction in accordance with sections 935 to 945 of the Code of Civil Procedure if the right to compensation is manifest. The court shall take the necessary measures in order to guarantee the protection of confidential information. This shall apply in particular in cases in which the injunction is issued without a prior hearing of the opponent.

(4) Section 811 of the Civil Code, as well as section 19 subs. 8, shall apply mutatis mutandis.

Section 19c Announcement of judgments

If an action has been lodged on the basis of this Act, the power may be conferred on the winning party in the judgment to announce the judgment in public at the expense of the losing party if it puts forward a legitimate interest. The nature and scope of the announcement shall be determined in the judgment. The power shall cease to apply if it is not put to use within three months after entry into final force of the judgment. The dictum in accordance with sentence 1 shall not be enforceable on an interim basis.

Section 19d Rights from other statutory provisions

Rights from other statutory provisions shall remain unaffected.

Chapter 4 Restrictions of protection

Section 20 Lapse

The provisions of Chapter 5 of Book 1 of the Civil Code shall apply mutatis mutandis to the lapse of the rights designated in sections 14 to 19c. Section 852 of the Civil Code shall apply mutatis mutandis if the liable party has acquired something by virtue of the infringement at the expense of the authorised party.

Section 21 Forfeiting of rights

(1) The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation shall not be entitled to prohibit the use of a registered trade mark with younger seniority for the goods or services for which it has been registered insofar as he/she has acquiesced, for a period of five successive years, in the use of the trade mark while being aware of such use, unless the registration for the trade mark with younger seniority was applied for in bad faith.

(2) The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation shall not be entitled to prohibit the use of a trade mark within the meaning of section 4 No. 2 or 3, of a commercial designation or of any other right within the meaning of section 13 with younger seniority insofar as he/she has acquiesced, for a period of five successive years, in the use of this right while being aware of such use unless the proprietor of this right acted in bad faith at the time of acquisition of the right.

(3) In cases falling under subs. 1 and 2, the proprietor of the right with younger seniority may not prohibit the use of the right with older seniority.

(4) Subs. 1 to 3 shall not affect the application of general principles regarding the forfeiting of rights.

Section 22

Exclusion of rights if the registration of a trade mark with younger seniority is definitive

(1) The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation shall not be entitled to prohibit the use of a registered trade mark with younger seniority for the goods or services for which it has been registered if an application for cancellation of the registration of the trade mark with younger seniority has been rejected or would have to be refused

1. because the trade mark or commercial designation with older seniority did not yet have a reputation within the meaning of section 9 subs. 1 No. 3, of section 14 subs. 2 No. 3 or of section 15 subs. 3 on the date material for the seniority of the registration of the trade mark with younger seniority (section 51 subs. 3),

2. because the registration of the trade mark with older seniority could have been cancelled because of revocation or because of absolute obstacles to protection on the date of the publication of the registration of the trade mark with younger seniority (section 51 subs. 4).

(2) In cases falling under subs. 1, the proprietor of the registered trade mark with younger seniority may not prohibit the use of the trade mark or of the commercial designation with older seniority.

Section 23

Use of names and descriptive indications, spare parts business

The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation shall not be entitled to prohibit a third party in the course of trade

1. to use their name or address,

2. to use a sign identical to the trade mark or commercial designation or a similar sign as an indication of characteristics or properties of goods or services, in particular their nature, quality, intended purpose, value, geographical origin or time of production or of rendering, or

3. to use the trade mark or the commercial designation as an indication of the intended purpose of a good, in particular as an accessory or spare part, or of a service insofar as the use is necessary therefor if use does not contravene accepted principles of morality.

Section 24

Exhaustion

(1) The proprietor of a trade mark or of a commercial designation shall not be entitled to prohibit a third party from using the trade mark or the commercial designation for goods which have been put on the market under this trade mark or this commercial designation by him/her or with his/her consent in this country, in one of the other Member States of the European Union or in another Contracting Party to the Agreement on the European Economic Area.

(2) Subs. 1 shall not apply if the proprietor of the trade mark or of the commercial designation opposes the use of the trade mark or of the commercial designation in connection with the further commercialisation of the goods for legitimate reasons, in particular if the condition of the goods has been changed or impaired after being put on the market.

Section 25

Exclusion of rights for lack of use

(1) The proprietor of a registered trade mark may not assert rights vis-à-vis third parties within the meaning of sections 14 and 18 to 19c if the trade mark has not been used in accordance with section 26 within the last five years prior to the assertion of the right for the goods or services which he/she invokes to establish his/her right, insofar as the trade mark has been registered for at least five years at this time.

(2) If rights within the meaning of sections 14 and 18 to 19c are asserted for an infringement of a registered trade mark by means of an action, the plaintiff must demonstrate in response to an objection by the defendant that the trade mark has been used in accordance with section 26 within the last five years prior to the lodging of the action for the goods or services he/she invokes in order to establish his/her right, insofar as the trade mark has been registered for at least five years at this time. If the five-year period of non-use ends subsequent to the lodging of the action, the plaintiff shall demonstrate in response to an objection of the defendant that the trade mark has been used in accordance with section 26 within the last five years prior to the conclusion of the oral hearing. The decision shall only take into consideration the goods or services for which use has been documented.

Use of the trade mark

(1) Where the assertion of rights from a registered trade mark or the upholding of the registration depends on the trade mark having been used, it must have been seriously used in this country by its proprietor for the goods or services in respect of which it is registered unless there are legitimate grounds for non-use.

(2) The use of the trade mark with the consent of the proprietor shall be deemed as use by the proprietor.

(3) The use of the trade mark in a shape which deviates from the registration shall also be deemed to constitute use of a registered trade mark insofar as the deviations do not change the distinctive character of the trade mark. Sentence 1 shall also be applied if the trade mark is also registered in the shape in which it has been used.

(4) Use in this country shall be deemed to also include the affixing of the trade mark on goods or their wrapping or packaging in this country if the goods are exclusively intended for export.

(5) Insofar as use within five years from the point in time of the registration is necessary, in cases in which an opposition has been lodged against the registration, the time of the registration shall be substituted by the point in time of the conclusion of the opposition proceedings.

Chapter 5

Trade marks as an object of property

Section 27

Transfer

(1) The right established by the registration, the use or the fact of it being a well-known trade mark may be transferred or pass to others for all or for a part of the goods or services for which the trade mark enjoys protection.

(2) If the trade mark is part of a business operation or of a component of a business operation, the right arising from the registration, the use or the fact of it being a well-known trade mark shall in cases of doubt be included in the assignment or the transfer of the business operation or of the component of the business operation to which the trade mark belongs.

(3) The transfer of the right created by the registration of a trade mark shall be entered in the register on request by a party if it is documented to the Patent Office.

If the period of five years of non-use ends after the publication of the registration, the opponent, if the other party disputes the use, must make a plausible case that the trade mark has been used in accordance with section 26 within the past five years prior to the decision on the opposition. Only those goods or services shall be taken into consideration in the decision with respect to which a plausible case has been made for use.

(2) If the examination of the opposition reveals that the trade mark is to be cancelled for all or part of the goods or services in respect of which it is registered, the registration shall be cancelled in full or in part. If the registration of the trade mark cannot be cancelled, the opposition shall be refused.

(3) The necessary documents shall be submitted for the divisional registration. If the documents are not submitted within three months after receipt of the declaration of division, or if the fee in accordance with the Patent Costs Act for the division proceedings is not paid within this period, this shall be deemed to constitute surrender of the divisional registration. ### Section 153 Restrictions for the assertion of infringement claims

(1) If the proprietor of a trade mark registered prior to 1 January 1995 or acquired through use or by being well known, or of a commercial designation in accordance with the provisions applicable until then, did not have any rights because of infringement against the use of the trade mark, of the commercial designation or of an identical sign, the rights from the trade mark or from the commercial designation in accordance with this Act may not be asserted against the further use of this trade mark, this commercial designation or this sign.

(2) Section 21 shall be applied to rights of the proprietor of a trade mark registered prior to 1 January 1995 or acquired through use or by being well known or of a commercial designation on the proviso that the five-year time limit provided for in section 21 subs. 1 and 2 shall commence to run on 1 January 1995.

Section 156 Examination of trade marks applied for to identify absolute obstacles to protection

- (1) If a sign has been filed prior to 1 January 1995 which in accordance with the provisions applicable until then was excluded from registration for reasons which the Patent Office had to consider ex officio, but which is not excluded from being registered in accordance with section 3, 7, 8 or 10 of this Act, the provisions of this Act shall be applied with the proviso that the application shall be deemed to have been lodged on 1 January 1995 and that, regardless of the original date of application and of any claimed priority, 1 January 1995 is material to the determination of seniority within the meaning of section 6 subs. 2.
- (2) If the Patent Office reaches the conclusion when examining the sign applied for that the prerequisites of subs. 1 are met, it shall inform the applicant accordingly.
- (3) If the applicant notifies the Patent Office within a two-month time limit after service of the notice in accordance with subs. 2 that he/she agrees to the postponement of seniority within the meaning of subs. 1, the application for the sign shall continue to be treated as an application for a trade mark in accordance with this Act.
